THEATRICAL MOVES IN JUNCTION CITY

Changes in Managements—Two New and Enlarged Show Houses for Season.

REPUBLICANS WILL ORGANIZE

Young Moysen Loses Leg—S. P. Machinist Badly Burned—Wife Beater Gets Off Easy—Weddings.

(Special Correspondence.)
 OGDEN, April 30.—Next week will witness the beginning of activity in the theatrical circles in Ogden. It marks the beginning of the numerous changes of management in several of the houses. Tonight the Moore stock company gives its farewell performance at the Utah theater after having run for seven months. The house again passes into the hands of John C. Cort, who will install a musical comedy company there until the first of June, when the opera house in Utah park will be used by the company.
 On June 1, Mr. Cort relinquishes control of the Grand Opera House, which he has held for a number of years and will have a new theater on the site of the present Utah theater. The plans for the new theater, which will be built by the Peery estate, are being prepared by the official architect of the Northwestern Theatrical association of Seattle. The new house will resemble the Colonial theater of Salt Lake City.
 As soon as Mr. Cort's lease on the Grand Opera House expires, the Orpheum theater company, recently organized in Ogden, and which secured a lease on the Grand, will have the house remodeled for the installation of vaudeville in August.
 Messrs. Knuckles & Lippincott of the Lyceum theater, which is the pioneer 10 and 20-cent house of Ogden, are contemplating moving to vaudeville, are contemplating having a new house for their shows. It is stated that George Maule, who owns the property where the Lyceum stands, will erect a new theater which will be the future home of the Knuckles & Lippincott shows.
 The moving picture situation remains unchanged, with the four independent houses covering the field. As every film service in the United States is practically represented in Ogden, it is very doubtful if any more moving picture houses will attempt to start in Ogden for some months to come.
 The Sylvan, Utah, and Glenwood Park companies are making arrangements for the opening of those resorts on Decoration day with the usual summer attractions, which include the moving picture houses together with a vaudeville show.

OLD TIME SNOW STORM.

OGDEN, April 30.—Ogden had a parting taste of winter Thursday afternoon, when a good, old-time snow storm, accompanied by a north wind, raged for about an hour and caused the thermometer to drop many degrees in a very short time. YOUNG MOYES LOSES LEG.

OGDEN, April 30.—Dr. Fisher of Salt Lake City came to Ogden at the request of E. H. Dundas, the contractor who built the viaduct, and consulted with Dr. J. W. Upon the removal of the cast from the left leg Wednesday afternoon it was decided by a number of local physicians in conference that amputation would be necessary to save the young man's life. Contractor Dundas, hearing of this, asked that Dr. Fisher pass upon the case and assist in the amputation, as he had performed a similar operation for Dundas. Dr. Piddock of Salt Lake also came from that city and assisted in the operation, which was performed last evening. Young Moysen is in a very critical condition today.
